RE: Mr. Greg Chapman

Greg Chapman has lectured to my Architectural Practice A and B classes on 5 separate occasions during 2008. Greg is an excellent presenter, he is extremely organised and his presentations are clear and easy to follow. Despite having to lecture to undergraduate architecture students Greg was able to engage them directly with both his content and his style of presentation. For example, he was able to get the students to participate in the lecture by asking them questions. Moreover, his sense of timing and pacing of each lecture has been impeccable.

Greg added a considerable amount of value to the lecture series which is based around the fundamentals of business theory and practice. He is able to succinctly summarise and easily convey his wealth of experiences. A number of the students remarked afterwards on how relevant his perspective was to them in their business activities outside of the university.

For the above reasons I would recommend Greg as a lecturer or public speaker in any forum and I would certainly endeavour to use his services again.

Do not hesitate to contact me if you would like to discuss this further.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Peter Raisbeck
